

Which are the official names of a curriculum?

name
- short form of study programme name, e.g. ce_ba displayShortName
- displayed version of short name, e.g. CE(BA) fullName
- full name without bachelor/master, e.g. Computer Engineering status
- current usage mode of the curriculum
noSemesters
- duration of study programme
poNumber
- optional official number of PrüfungsOrdnung (should be available when status <> 'planned') remark
- any text explaining e.g. the current status or authorship

- ForeignLanguage Modules do not have officialID?
- Wahlpflichtmodules are templates in the curriculum and do not have an officialID
- Pr

How short should the Shortnames be?
'Mathe 1' or 'Ma1'

name
- unique name, e.g. v0001
- just in case multiple models would be available in one workspace (quite unlikely)

planned
- curriculum is not running yet, still in the planning/discussion/dreaming phase
running
- curriculum is currently in usage
ending
- the curriculum phases out; perhaps the successor is already running archived
- no students study this curriculum any longer

supplementary information could also be encoded directly as attributes of Module
This way, however, we make the DSL more robust with respect to later additions/changes

English names really appropriate?

name
- mnemonic ID, e.g. ma1
officialID
- official id, e.g. CE11
shortName
- short name to be displayed in overviews, e.g. Mathe1
officialName
- official name, e.g. Mathematik 1
semester
- in which semester is the module taught
etcs
- number of Ects points
workingHours1
- student's weekly effort for main part of module (e.g. lecture)
workingHours2
- student's weekly effort for additional part of module (e.g. exercise)

